founder such personal service rendered to the General a watch suitably inscribed. Later on over-riding business claims that young W. J. R. carried to the County Office, and from one of the County Commissioners to another he carried the watch. It suddenly death cut short a career full of splendid promise. He left a brave little widow, with three other fine children, headed in the County on her way to the Old Dominion, and here she banded over that watch to Commissioner Richards, for it was his son, William, to whom the General had presented the watch. The watch was carried by the Commissioner, and the case, in the case, W. J. R., are equally applicable to father and son.

The happenings in the course of day in the Enquiry and Investigation Department keep Lieut.-Colonel Otway and his staff on at full stretch all the time. The Department is a sort of "clearing house," where all sorts of people call on all sorts of missions, there was a youth who had been working in the lumber camps, but his health broke down and he returned to the city and he had no friends. An Officer detailed to take him to the Gage institute, where he was thoroughly exhorted, received advice. The well-known was taken thence to Home for Men, where light work such as he can do was given him.

Pathetic interest attaches to the next caller, a blind returned man, helped in by a boy. A kind-hearted lady leaves a dollar periodically for his poor fellow, who is very grateful for the consideration shown him, and smiles appreciatively at the officer he cannot see, but whose helping hand passes him the welcome gift.

Rumour has reached this building at somewhere over in the States there had been an impression in the minds that "the women's end of things" was not getting the show of "The War Cry" of that "Territory" which it deserved. Naturally something had to be done, and the ladies decided to do it, imagination paints all sorts of pictures in quick succession, and in our mind's eye we can see that poor Editor with his back against the wall, and the little bird who

But the story only tells of the Editor. The Editor was hardly to be expected to meet the ladies in a room, so a "committee of one" was named, and when it is known that the one was the Editor's better half, it will be easily understood that disunion prevailed. The bird tells us that the armistice terms included, "no columns next week and as much as you want from then on!" the twitler adds, "who says committees are no good?"

The word outside the building forecasts the keynote for all that is inside, that which is not in accordance with the "Hallelujah" must find no place within.

MUSICAL: FESTIVAL

Given in Connection with Montreal's Thirty-third Anniversary—A Contrast in Bands

THE CHIEF SECRETARY PRESIDES

A splendid Musical Festival was given by the Montreal I. Band and Songsters to conclude the series of thirty-third anniversary meetings. On the evening before last, the thirty days of the Army and the present an "old time band" took part in the proceedings.

When the band had ranged up in front of the platform, Bandmaster Goodie stepped forward and gave the right hand of fellowship to what he termed the "old time band," but at the same time turned round and looked with some natural pride to his newly united band, with its thirty-five modern instruments.

"If we could study the evolution of the Salvation Army Band, it would show a great progress," said Colonel McMillan, who presided. Then he told a story of how Toronto a good many years ago gave a musical festival to roll up with a great meeting and sent out a request for all local Corps within a specified distance to roll up with their instruments. It appeared, however, that while every Corps possessed a big drum and a kettle-drum, the instruments were scarce, the result being that at the musical festival there turned up just five drums, of which "Yonge river" was the largest. At the same time, the Colonel agreed that they could never surpass the spirit and courage of the pioneers even if present-day Bandmen could show a little more training in the art of music.

A good programme was given by the band and Songsters, and Adjutant Yerex, one of the pioneer Officers, gave an address.

Some two hundred Soldiers and Reservists gathered at the Citadel on Wednesday night to take part in a banquet and social reunion. Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Llewellyn presided, and the guest of honour was Adjutant Hattie Yerex. Brief addresses were made by representative speakers.

HAMILTON IV.

Eleven Seekers Kneel at Mercy Seat.

The visit of Captain and Mrs. T. Laurie to our Corps was a means of much blessing and inspiration. God came very near in all the meetings of the week-end. The holiness meeting was a time of great searching. Mrs. Captain Laurie gave the address and one comrade sought and found Satisfaction.

On Monday night, Mrs. T. Laurie gave the address and one comrade sought and found Satisfaction.

HAMILTON II.

We can record a week-end of victory. Captain Otway, who was in charge of the week-end meetings, the week-end service. In the morning he gave a good sermon, and blessed us much. At night one woman came to the mercy-seat, and husband followed her. Four others also sought Salvation.

On Monday night we had our usual week-end service. Adjutant Bess was in the chair. The Young People gave a splendid programme.

Half Night of Prayer

IS CONDUCTED BY THE COMMISSIONER

In the Toronto Temple—A Hallowed Season of Communion with God

FERVENT prayers, burning exhortations, pointed testimonies and helpful messages—in song were the features of the night of prayer conducted by the Commissioner in the Toronto Temple on Friday, February 11.

Mr. Commissioner Richards, Mrs. Colonel McMillan, Colonel Gaskin and the Headquarters, Divisional and Training College Staff assisted, and the Toronto I. Band and Songsters and the Cadets' Songster Brigade rendered appropriate selections in music. The solo of Lieut.-Colonel Adley also helped to deepen the feeling in the meeting and to melt all hearts.

Desire For Blessing.

The attendance was splendid, the auditorium being filled. As to the spirit of the meeting it was also splendid, the desire of those present for spiritual blessing being evidenced by the great attention given to the several testimonies, the many hearty responses to the prayers offered, and the uplifted hands when consecration choruses were being sung.

All seemed inspired with the heavenly sentiment expressed in the first song, "Sweet hour of prayer, that calls me from a world of care." Outside the boys might like to say, "At the same time, the Colonel agreed that they could never surpass the spirit and courage of the pioneers even if present-day Bandmen could show a little more training in the art of music."

A good programme was given by the band and Songsters, and Adjutant Yerex, one of the pioneer Officers, gave an address. Some two hundred Soldiers and Reservists gathered at the Citadel on Wednesday night to take part in a banquet and social reunion. Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Llewellyn presided, and the guest of honour was Adjutant Hattie Yerex. Brief addresses were made by representative speakers.

We want Toronto to feel the influence of this meeting, and Brigadier McEwan, and many others besought the Throne of Grace for a similar service, beseeching God to pour out His Spirit on His people, to check the prevailing wickedness of the multitudes, and to revive His Church.

The selection sung by the Toronto I. Songsters was really a culmination of these prayers, the burden of which was contained in the following lines:

"Spirit of God so mighty, Fill me with power Divine."

Giving God the Glory.

A Scripture portion having been read, the Commissioner's address was then thrown open to testimonies, with Lieut.-Colonel Moore leading on. Many seized the opportunity of giving their testimonies, and many others were led to Christ by what He had done for them. "I was a drunkard, a gambler, and a thief," said one brother, "but the mighty power of God has made me a new man. I am a saved man. A short time ago I little thought that I would be able to give a testimony like this, and giving testimony to God's power. But thank God I am now delivered from my old besetting sin, and I am a new man. My heart is to tell others of this wonderful working power, and help them to find their way to God."

Adjutant Gwyn (Lippincott) related a little of his experience. During his Soldiership days in Bermuda, he was asked an Officer how he had been the answer. He set himself to do this and an old banian patch became sacred ground to him. He had been an inveterate novel-reader before his conversion, and when he first started to read the Bible, he thought he rather did, but he made up his mind to persevere, and he might he read the more he loved the sacred Word.

An interesting little story that appeared in last week's "War Cry" was used by Lieut.-Colonel Miller as a basis for his remarks. It was about a boy who had a card given to him containing the text, "Have faith in God." Riding home on the street car he dropped it, and immediately he picked it up, "I've lost my faith in God." The kindly conductor stopped the car and recovered the text.

"If all who had lost their faith in God would cry to Him for its restoration," said the Colonel, "what a blessing we would see at the mercy-seat."

Brigadier Barr called to remembrance the first-attainment of prayer: "I was at Church of the Holy Spirit, and I was led by the Army's Founder. The blessings of that meeting would ever remain with him. I was at the Congress Hall, and was led by the Army's Founder. The blessings of that meeting would ever remain with him. I was at the Congress Hall, and was led by the Army's Founder. The blessings of that meeting would ever remain with him."

Some thrilling stories of extraordinary self-sacrifice were related by Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel Yerex, who urged a revival of desperate attack upon hardened sinners during the Great Call Campaign. One story related concerned a man who was won to God by a meeting being held in his back yard.

Out of Place.

Lieut.-Colonel Perry spoke of the many people who were filling to the brim the gathering, and their faith in God. He said that their faith in God was a blessing of a clean heart. He said that a decided stand as a Soldier of the Cross and the Salvation Army.

Boldly Took Her Stand. No tongue can tell what it meant for the school-girl, who was a Soldier in this day. The Army was so strange and new. People did not understand it, and she had been spread abroad, making it very unpopular. But, she had seen the heavenly vision, and she called from God. She was a Soldier in the world, and looked to God to take care of the results. She boldly took her stand in the world.

The life of a follower of Christ, from God was a blessing of a clean heart. He said that a decided stand as a Soldier of the Cross and the Salvation Army.

During a season of prayer which followed this address an opportunity was given for coming to the mercy-seat, and beyond doubt all present were saved.

PERSONAL SKETCHES

NO. IV.

Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel Miller, Toronto.

Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel Gideon Miller (nee Bella Smith) gives us an unbroken record for thirty-four years' Officership, is a typical Canadian, being a farmer's daughter, the youngest of a large family, growing in a log house. It is interesting to hear her tell of early day struggles on the farm, and of the rude methods of doing things. In those days compared with the up-to-date ways of the present. And yet it was that she received her education in thrift which was an Army Officer.

Good Christian Parents.

Bella Stubbs was greatly loved with good parents. Her mother was a real, live, active Christian, a Methodist of the old type and with a high standard of Christianity. No matter how busy the season on the farm mother insisted on family worship. Mrs. Miller has been heard to say that she and her husband, "I am so much to my mother, she was every inch a saint. I was hushed to sleep as a child while she sang out of her heart, and I have never since taught me how to pray. I had reached eleven years of age when she died. My last earthly friend came from me. I much my young heart would break. Oh, how I prayed that I might be good like her. I was not to know how to serve God, which I did in my child-like way."

Bella spent her early days going to school, and her father and mother, she should have a good education. After passing through the public school, she entered the Toronto Collegiate. "When about through with her schooling, and her mind set on following the teaching path, she related a man who had changed the whole course of her life. The Salvation Army had entered the town in 1885 and her brother (now Adjutant Stubbs, of I.S.A.), attended the meetings. Having heard and seen the blessing of a clean heart, she took a decided stand as a Soldier of the Cross and the Salvation Army."

Shipwrecked Salvationists Meet

With a Surprise.

For five long days the ship had struggled against the sweeping force of a wintry Atlantic gale until her weary crew were weary of their dangerous work. Like automata, all customary life and joviality crushed by the shattering was which swept the decks from under their feet. Through a long forenoon the men staggered to and fro the way-ward bridge had been battered and eyes the gray sky grew black and cold green water mountains sweep still higher, leaving yawning depths into which the ship plunged with sickening shudders. The water clambered aloft in sudden surges, and the men were driven again into a monotonous groaning of the ship's timbers as the angry rollers had not the sharp eyes of one detected a faint object on the horizon.

Knowing themselves far out of the beaten track of shipping the watch and the commandant, and the heart of the western ocean, ordered the ship's course to be changed in the direction of the subject. As she thrashed into the teeth of the gale, her crew discovered that the vessel was an inverted flag, signal of distress, and drawing nearer they saw a tiny schooner, rudderless and water-logged, tossed like a cork by the gigantic sea. It was obviously a rescue in the nick of time for the "Volunteers" was called, and in a few minutes the dazed evoked as a cutter swung down to the perilous depths.

How the rescue was effected without loss of life will never be known, but after the passing of the schooner, a rescue in the nick of time for the "Volunteers" was called, and in a few minutes the dazed evoked as a cutter swung down to the perilous depths.

Mens Social Notes

BY LIEUT.-COLONEL OTWAY

WE are now able to report that the Commission has appointed Adjutant and Mrs. Derry to take charge of our Social operations at the Adjutant's duties will be to act as Chairman of the Ontario Reformatory. Spurdwell, near Guelph, where five hundred prisoners will at an early date be located. Already a large number have arrived from many of the county prisons. The Adjutant's weekly meetings will be arranged and Bible Classes formed. They will spend the greater part of their time at the reformatory, and thus have the opportunity for dealing, also to do many kind acts, such as correspondence with friends, or purchase of articles permitted by the authorities. It is these small unostentatious Christian acts that often find a way to the heart and win the man for Christ.

We sincerely congratulate Adjutant and Mrs. Derry on their appointment and the great opportunity given them in this special field of labour. The Adjutant will also attend the Guelph Police Court.

Dr. Lovell, Chief Executive Officer of the Ontario Board of Parole, speaking recently at the Canadian Club, stated that the parole system had just qualified itself by the fact that ninety-three per cent of the prisoners released had made good and become good and honourable citizens.

It will be remembered that the Ontario Board of Parole has been the Government's right hand in dealing with such cases, and every month a large number are released. Promoted to GLORY

Sister Mrs. Foster, Aurora. The Death Messenger has visited our Corps and taken one of our valuable Soldiers, in the person of Sister Mrs. Foster. After three weeks of intense suffering our dear friend passed away to be with Jesus. She was a bright testimony and just four hours before she died I visited her and read her the 23rd Psalm, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil." I said to those in the room, this can be the testimony of a Christian. Turning to our sister, I said, "Is this your testimony?" She smiled and said, "Oh, yes." Almost immediately she fell back and never moved again. Our comrade very much, as she was an active worker in the Home League. We gave her an Army Bible Class. We gave her a large funeral, which was attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

On Sunday night we had a memorial service, and a good crowd turned up. Sister Mrs. Andrews, of the Home League, presided, on behalf of the sisters of the Corps. Treasurer, Proctor, Sergt.-Major Smith, and others were present. A solo was rendered by Mrs. Morrison. We finished up with six souls in the fountain, one being the daughter of our departed sister, one a daughter-in-law, and one a grandson. May the Lord bless and bless and help all the bereaved ones—Wm. Morrison, Captain.

Sister Mrs. Chamberlain, Bracebridge. On Tuesday, January 25, the Messenger of Death visited the Corps of Bracebridge, and Sister Mrs. Chamberlain, Home League Treasurer, presided. A large number of friends were present. A solo was rendered by Mrs. Morrison. We finished up with six souls in the fountain, one being the daughter of our departed sister, one a daughter-in-law, and one a grandson. THE GREAT REVIVAL.

By Adjutant Atkinson, Windsor, Ont.

Time—Oswald Christian Soldiers.

Like a clarion trumpet
Comes the call of God,
Rouse thee every Soldier,
Heed your blessed Lord;
Sons in sin are dying,
Sinking in despair,
Follow Christ, your Saviour,
Seek them everywhere.

Chorus.
Comes the Great Revival, Waiting on the air,
God's own Spirit moving Sinners everywhere.

In the streets and by-ways
Over every land,
Comes the great revival,
Moving all mankind.
Desperate sinners falling
'Neath the call of God,
Falling in the Fountain,
Plunging in the Blood.

OH, TO LOVE THEE!

Times—"Glory, Jesus Saves Me"
143: "Land Beyond the Blue" 145:
S. H. 462.

Precious Jesus, oh, to love Thee!
Oh, to know that Thou art mine!
Jesus, all my heart I give Thee,
If Thou wilt but make it Thine.

Chorus.

Glory, glory, Jesus saves me!
Glory, glory to the Lamb!
Oh, the cleansing Blood has reached me!

Glory, glory to the Lamb!
Take my warmest, best affection,
Take my memory, mind and will,
Then with Thy loving Spirit
All my cupped mantle fill.

Bold I touch The sacred garment, Forth stretch my eager hand,
Virtue, like a healing fountain,
Freely flows at love's command.

CHRIST'S RULES

A Commentary in Rhyme on Matt. 5: 19-48.

"Except ye be more righteous than the Scribe and Pharisee," the standard's high, yet easy for the likes of you and me.

Goodness is the thing that counts, and not so much good looks, mechanical religion, or a head stuffed full of books.

To know and not to do, we learn, marks sinners of words; to let that good and ripe, Cerebral are all right, the same we say of creeds, but not unless the form and faith are backed by equal deeds.

Our Lord expounds the law, religion and the will; He says the thought of murder breaks the law—
"Thou shalt not kill."

To call a fellowman a lion, to brand him fool or liar, the deadly sin of anger brings, and then comes the Hell-fire.

If your brother has a grievance, go, be reconciled before you take your place in church with suspect meek and mild, Practice arbitration and settle up right quick, in case your neighbour comes along and slams you with a brick.

If a poor neglected friend, poisoning gets in; to let some things go unexplained, why, that is mortal sin. How quickly people grow apart, and then the good advice will all be lost on both of you until you've paid the price!

Keep your eyes off women if you can't keep the right way, for that's

YOUR SAVIOUR, TOO.

Time—For you I am praying. 227:
G. Song-Book, 20.

I have a Saviour, He's pleading in my glory.

A dear loving Saviour, though earth friends be few,
And now He is watching in tenderness over me.

And Oh, that my Saviour were your Saviour too!

For you I am praying,
I'm praying for you.

I have a Father, in me He has given A hope for eternity, blessed and true,
And soon He will call me to meet Him in Heaven,
But, Oh, may He lead you to go with me, too!

TURN TO HIM.

Times—"My Jesus, I love Thee. 155:
156: Oh, turn ye, 199: C. Song-Book, 90.

Oh, turn ye, Oh, turn ye, for why will ye die.

When Jesus in great mercy is drawing so nigh?

Now Jesus invites you, the Spirit says, "Come!"

And angels are waiting to welcome you home.

How vain the delusion that while you delay
Your heart may grow better by staying away!

Come wretched, come starving, come just as you be.

While streams of Salvation are flowing so free.

Why will you be starving and feeding on dust?

There's more life in Jesus, enough and to spare:

If still you are doubting, make trial and see.

And prove that His mercy is boundless and free.

the cause of grievous sin too common in our day. It's always very risky on forbidden fruit to look, and that's why Adam's record comes so early in the Book.

Divorce made easy is the rule our Lord did not approve; there's only one good reason that justifies that move.

Cut off the hand, pluck out the eye to save the other parts—philosophy of sacrifice that goes to all our hearts. We have to serve a tree this way, to cut off the dead wood; so amputation often works a sound and lasting cure.

We shall owe you on the one clock, let him have another go; if he be a stronger man you can't return the blow. He loves to fight so why shouldn't you be a victim of his sport?

He, too, used to kindness, and that's how he will get caught.

Beware of law and lawyers; lose and get away. The longer you let lawyers fight the more you have to pay. It's best to let them have your coat and save your pocket-book; the other fellow gets the bait, but you will miss the hook.

If you have your enemies and turn them into friends; an enemy upon the rear may oft defeat your ends. To love a friend and hate a foe—the slug is good at that; we're higher still in life, my friend, than slugs.

"Be ye also perfect"—that is the mark, you see, and pressing on toward it, that's real Christianity.
Some say that they have got it, but their mouths given them away; they haven't got humility, for which we all should pray.—Uncle Charley
